Takeaway Learnings

- Technology has helped courts perform at the time of the pandemic.
- Students are far more tech savvy than present judges and senior lawyers.
- Today's courts have adequate hardware and software to start E-courts, the only problem is the mindset.
- Every person in the judiciary system must adopt to the new-normal in the wake of the present pandemic
- Even when normal courts open, we can explore the possibility is continuing the use of virtual court.
- The lawyers do not get work based on advertisement, but they get work based on their reputation.
- Arbitration & mediation are functioning well over virtual platforms.
- Virtual Courts are not equal to physical court, it can never replace the physical courts.
